

Education

Superior Printing Ink Co. has always been committed to education throughout the Graphic Communications Industry. We are proud members of key industry associations and research initiatives. As an ISO certified printing ink manufacturer, we have made a deep commitment to on-going education throughout our corporation. The evolving nature of graphic communications requires that we continue our legacy of educational commitment to our employees, our customers, and to the industry itself. We have a number of various educational modules on a variety of key topics that can be tailored to your specific needs.